

MSP Sector Analysis Manufacturing

Surplus and Gap Overview

High Retirement Rates, Low Training Numbers

Multiple career pathways are needed in Manufacturing in Minneapolis-Saint Paul. Over 25% of workers in the industry are over 55 years of age, and the majority of workers identify as white male. The industry has grown more than anticipated; employment in manufacturing roles rose an average of 1.7% each year since 2014, compared to 1.3% nationally. Sector unemployment sits at approximately 4.2%, due in large part to less than one jobseeker per vacancy and record Manufacturing vacancies (6,871) in Q2 of 2017. With 63,800 positions to be filled by 2020, employers should train workers to replace retirees and increase automation.
